

Galway City Community Network: The Public Participation Network in Galway City

Statement of Wellbeing

What is Wellbeing?

Increasingly Wellbeing is being recognised as being crucial to the healthy functioning of societies and communities. Galway City Community Network is working to develop a Statement of Wellbeing for This and Future Generations in Galway City and we want to hear your views. We hope that the Statement will influence planning for communities, economy & society of Galway.

How are we going to do this?

We are working with Professor Benjamin Broome, Arizona State University and Dr Mike Hogan, NUI Galway to develop the Wellbeing Statement using an approach called Collective Intelligence, essentially a process that allows us to gather and structure our ideas.

What will be expected of you?

You are asked to attend a workshop in NUI Galway on Saturday June 6th from 9am to 1pm. Refreshments will be served on the day and during the session, you will be given the opportunity to:

- Contribute ideas about how to make Galway city a place where wellbeing flourishes for you, for your community and for all in Galway city;
- Engage in individual and collective learning and make judgments about relationships between ideas;
- Reflect the views of your community;
- Contribute to the ownership and application of the ideas that emerge.

GCCN is striving to ensure that all views and perspectives are captured. Please encourage members of your group/organisation/community to attend

This event is free of charge but prior registration is necessary. Places are limited to 120 people maximum – please email info@galwaycitycommunitynetwork.ie or use the online registration form here by Monday May 18th
